Other comments:

In particular, it is possible to appreciate the high level of literature review, which is based on a number of research articles and studies. The diploma thesis is processed very clearly, and the problem is divided into partial themes with logical continuity. The depth of the analysis performed corresponds to the demands placed on this type of work. The final evaluation and discussion, in which the diplomat demonstrated the ability to synthesize and compare the obtained results with theoretical knowledge, can be considered as excellent.

Question:

1. What is the limitation of your research? How could the research method selection influence the results obtained?
2. Where do you see the greatest challenges of current performance measurement and management in Local government?

I suggest the grade:

Excellent
